

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. NORMAN S. CURTISS,
Assistant Librarian.

REPORT.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of New York:

The Trustees of the State Library respectfully present this their Fifty-second Annual Report.

At the close of the year 1868, the whole number of volumes in the Library was,	78,047
Of which there were in the general library,.....	57,474
In the law library,	20,573

At the close of the year 1869, the whole number was,.....	80,293
In the general library,	59,045
In the law library,	21,248

The additions for the year 1869, were:

To the general library,.....	1,571
To the law library,.....	675
Total additions in 1869,.....	2,246
Of these there were acquired by purchase,.....	1,208
By donation and exchange,.....	1,038

The trustees take pleasure in stating, that, during the past year, they have received from Messrs. Macmillan & Co., of London, as a donation to the general library, one hundred and thirty-six volumes of their publications, a list of which is included in the annexed catalogue of donations.

The number of volumes added to the Law Library is nearly equal to that of the preceding year, which was unusually large as compared with the additions of several former years. The collection of British Law Reports is nearly complete. Only three volumes of American Law Reports are wanted, and it is hoped that these may yet be secured.

The additional shelving required in the Law Library and the boxes needed for the British patents, as stated in the last annual report of the trustees, have been supplied from the means specially provided for these purposes by the Legislature at its last session.

It appears, from the annexed financial statement, that the deficiency in the appropriation for binding, to which reference was made in the last annual report, has been but slightly reduced; and the Legislature is, therefore, respectfully requested to make a special appropriation to meet this deficiency.

The trustees take pleasure in adverting to the fact, that, in accordance with their recommendation, an amendment to the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly was adopted at the last session, providing that copies of all publications, issued by State authority, be deposited in the State Library. It is hoped that it may be the pleasure of the Legislature to make this rule permanent, by enacting the same into a law. It seems reasonable that the State should preserve copies of all its publications in its library.

The usual statement of cash receipts and expenditures; of books, pamphlets, maps, coins, medals, etc., acquired by donation and exchange; and of volumes catalogued and placed on the shelves of the Library, during the year 1869, is hereto appended.

Respectfully submitted, by order of the trustees,

JOHN V. L. PRUYN,

Chancellor of the University.

REPORT.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of New York:

The Trustees of the State Library respectfully present this their Fifty-third Annual Report.

At the close of the year 1869, the whole number of volumes in the library was	80,293
Of which there were in the general library	59,045
In the law library	21,248

At the close of the year 1870, the whole number was	82,856
In the general library	60,945
In the law library	21,911

The additions for the year 1870, were:

To the general library	1,900
To the law library	663
Total additions in 1870	2,563
Of these there were acquired by purchase	1,682
By donation and exchange	881

The amount appropriated for the purchase of books has been expended in procuring standard works in law, science and general literature. The trustees refer to the catalogue herewith communicated for a full exhibit of the additions made during the year. Among these, as of special interest, they mention a collection of works on architecture and civil engineering; the continuation of the series of Hansard's Debates of the British Parliament to the present time, making in all two hundred and two large 8°. volumes; and the journals and sessional parliamentary papers, in one hundred and fifty folio and 8°. volumes. The American Law Reports have been continued to the latest published, and very valuable additions of British reports and law treatises have been made.

The British Patent Reports are received almost as soon as published, through the kind attention of Benjamin Woodcroft, Esq., clerk to the commissioners of patents.

This is the largest connected single work ever published, and is a rich repository of modern inventions. It is regarded as of great value and is constantly consulted.

A manuscript index in one folio volume, of the twenty-six volumes of the Sir William Johnson manuscripts, containing seventy thousand references to persons, places and subjects, has been arranged by Mr. Homes from materials collected jointly by himself and Mr. Pratt.

The Hon. Erastus Corning has presented two oil paintings of great historical interest, being portraits of Joseph Brandt and John Brandt, successively principal chiefs of the Six Nations of Indians. Mr. Corning has also presented a portrait of the late William L. Stone, the author of the life of the elder Brandt.

A donation of Chinese coins (200 cash) has been received from Mrs. Wooster Hotchkiss, of New Haven, Conn.

In consideration of the large expense of printing a full title catalogue of the general library, as authorized by law, or even of a second supplement, it is proposed to publish a compendious index of subjects which will probably make a volume of six hundred pages. This will be of great convenience, as it will bring into a single volume the title of all the works in the library. The preparation of this work has so far advanced that it can be printed before the close of the present year.

The crowded condition of the books in the general library makes additional shelving necessary, and two hundred boxes are needed for the current series of British patents.

The attention of the Legislature is called to the condition of the floor of the law library. The difficulty of keeping the tile in place renders necessary some other provision.

The annual statement of cash receipts and expenditures is appended.

Respectfully submitted, by order of the trustees.

JOHN V. L. PRUYN,
Chancellor of the University.

S. B. WOOLWORTH, Secretary.

REPORT.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of New York :

The Trustees of the State Library respectfully present this their Fifty-fourth Annual Report.

At the close of the year 1870, the whole number of volumes in the Library was.....	82,856
Of which there were in the general library.....	60,945
In the law library	21,911

At the close of the year 1871, the whole number was	85,465
In the general library.....	62,807
In the law library.....	22,658

The additions in the year 1871, were :

To the general library.....	1,862
To the law library.....	747

Total additions in 1871.....	2,609
Of these there were acquired by purchase.....	1,492
By donation and exchange.....	1,117

The progress of the library during the year has varied little from that of former years.

By the careful study of catalogues of books offered for sale, important purchases for the general library, on advantageous terms, have been made. The means at the disposal of the trustees are only sufficient to secure, to a limited extent, current literature. In a library of reference the books not being removed from the building, less inconvenience is thus experienced than in a circulating library. There are, however, many books whose purchase cannot be long delayed, and the character of the library sustained. This is specially true of the law library. The courts and the profession look for every volume of reports at the earliest day after its publication. New treatises and new editions of old ones are imperatively demanded. There can be no delay, for every new decision is of immediate application. To this demand, entirely reasonable, the trustees have responded to the extent of their power, and they have been able to make the law library, in some of its departments, especially in that of American law, so nearly complete that it will compare favorably in that department, with any other library in the country. There are, however, deficiencies which ought to be supplied. Among these, and which the trustees have long been desirous of supplying, are the reports of the Scotch courts. The increasing difficulty of obtaining a complete set of these reports, has induced the trustees to accept an offer for them, even at a price which seems large, but which, if the purchase were delayed, would be much larger. There are other British reports, the purchase of which is only delayed by the want of funds. The trustees are also desirous of adding very considerably to the collection of works on the civil law.

The system of State and international exchange has brought to the library many valuable works. In addition to the legislative documents, session laws, and law reports of the States, and of some foreign countries, may be mentioned 449 volumes (fo.) of papers of the Parliament of Great Britain, from 1843 to 1851, and the statutes of the kingdom from the first year of William IV, to the thirty-second of Victoria.

These have been secured mainly in exchange for the legislative documents of this State; and in the quality of the paper, printing and binding, are in striking contrast with the cheap form of our documents.

Eight volumes of the works of Frederick the Great, XVI-XXIII, presented by the emperor of Germany, have been received. They are in continuation of previous volumes and are in the same rich form.

The joint resolution of Congress, passed January 11, 1871, provided that the complete specifications and drawings of patents be published under the direction of the commissioner of patents, and that one copy of the same be placed in the capitol of every state. On the application of the Governor, ten volumes folio, being those published to the present time, have been forwarded and are placed in the library. One volume is to be issued each week. The publication began on the 4th of July, 1870, and is expected to extend back to the last publication under the former method.

The appropriation for additional shelving by the last Legislature has been expended, but brings only temporary relief. Nearly every shelf is already filled.

The commissioners of the new Capitol have found it necessary to remove the building adjacent to the library and which has for several years been occupied for its use, and in fact made a part of it. It was used for offices and working-rooms, and contained a large number of duplicates and State documents, and the legislative papers, which had by statute been committed to the custody of the regents. The contents of this building have been removed to the library. To make room for them, the north entrance has been closed and the stairway filled with books. From the east gallery of the general library the cases of coins, medals, etc., have been removed to the main floor, and the gallery is fully occupied; not the shelves only, but also the floor. The north end of the law library has been taken for an office and a packing room. The present condition of things cannot possibly continue during the time which must elapse before the library is removed to the new Capitol, and it is earnestly hoped that the Legislature will make provision for necessities which are constantly becoming more pressing.

The coins, medals, etc., purchased in 1870, of J. R. Simms, have been transferred from the Geological Rooms to the library as the more appropriate place. They cannot, in its present crowded condition, be exhibited. The portrait of De Witt Clinton, purchased in 1871, has been received and is placed with those of other Governors of the State.

In the last annual report of the trustees, it was stated that it was proposed to publish a subject index of the general library. This is now in the hands of the printer, and its completion is expected before the adjournment of the Legislature.

A catalogue of all additions to the law library and to the general library, by gift and exchange, is, as usual, appended to this report. The expected early publication of the index renders unnecessary a catalogue of books purchased for the general library.

A small increase of the annual appropriation for binding will be required.

In addition to the charge of the State Library, the establishment of rules and regulations for the use of the books, and the appointment of librarians of the Court of Appeals' libraries at Syracuse and Rochester are committed to this board. There are several other libraries in judicial districts, some of which are required to report to the Regents: It seems proper that all these libraries should be subject to the same general law, and it is suggested that they may be constituted as branches of the State Library. In that case, the powers and duties of the Regents in regard to them should be defined.

No moneys for the purposes of the library have been received by the trustees during the past year, all bills having been rendered to the Comptroller and paid by the Treasurer.

Respectfully submitted, by order of the trustees.

JOHN V. L. PRUYN, Chancellor.

S. B. WOOLWORTH, Secretary.

REPORT.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of New York:

The Trustees of the State Library respectfully present this their Fifty-fifth Annual Report.

At the close of the year 1871, the whole number of volumes in the library was	85,465
Of which there was in the general library.....	62,807
In the law library.....	22,658

At the close of the year 1872, the whole number was.....	88,000
In the general library	64,486
In the law library.....	23,514

The additions in the year 1872, were:

To the general library	1,679
To the law library	856
Total additions in 1872.....	2,535
Of these there were acquired by purchase	1,263
By donation and exchange	1,272

The list of books received into the general library, herewith presented, contains the additions of two years, 1871 and 1872. The list for the year 1871 was included in the Subject Index of the general library, which was being printed at the time the last report was presented to the Legislature. The publication of this complete list for that year is deemed important, since the titles are much more full than in the Subject Index Catalogue, and are in the alphabetical order of the names of the authors of the books; and taken in connection with those of other years, furnish the materials for a continuous printed catalogue of the books in the general library.

The Subject Index Catalogue makes about six hundred and seventy octavo pages.

Among the additions to the general library, is a large number of English county and local histories, selected in London by the Chancellor.

The Specifications of American Patents, noticed in the last report, have been regularly received, constituting a series from July, 1871, to July, 1872, of 53 folio volumes.

The Specifications of British Patents have been continued by the liberality of the British Commissioners, numbering about 150 additional volumes, and will require another appropriation of two hundred and fifty dollars for cases.

A complete set of the ten gold and silver Japanese coins, from the new mint at Osaca in 1872, has been received from the government of Japan, through Commissioners Nakasima and Yosio.

The additions to the law library include one hundred volumes of Scotch Reports, completing the series to the present time.

Deficiencies in the series of British Reports have not been supplied for the want of adequate appropriations. There are many valuable elementary treatises, the purchase of which has been delayed for the same reason.

Valuable additions have been made to the department of Statute Law and State Papers, under the system of State exchanges.

A large proportion of the laws and legislative documents of the States and of foreign countries are received in an unbound condition. These accessions have grown to such an extent as to render an increase of the annual appropriation for binding necessary.

The Trustees repeat the following from their report of last year, and again ask the attention of the Legislature to this subject :

“ In addition to the charge of the State Library, the establishment of rules and regulations for the use of the books, and the appointment of librarians of the Court of Appeals’ libraries at Syracuse and Rochester are committed to this board. There are several other libraries in judicial districts, some of which are required to report to the Regents. It seems proper that all these libraries should be subject to the same general law, and it is suggested that they may be constituted as branches of the State Library. In that case, the powers and duties of the Regents, in regard to them, should be defined.”

No moneys for the purposes of the library have been received by the Trustees during the past year, all bills having been rendered to the Comptroller and paid by the Treasurer.

Respectfully submitted, by order of the trustees.

JOHN V. L. PRUYN,
Chancellor of the University.

S. B. WOOLWORTH, Secretary.

REPORT.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of New York :

The trustees of the state library respectfully present this their fifty-sixth annual report :

At the close of the year 1872 the whole number of volumes in the library was.....	88,000
Of which there were in the general library.....	64,486
In the law library	23,514

At the close of the year 1873 the whole number was....	90,887
In the general library	66,253
In the law library	24,634

The additions in the year 1873 were :

To the general library.....	1,767
To the law library.....	1,120

Total additions in 1873	2,887
Of these there were acquired by purchase	1,794
By donation and exchange.....	1,093

This increase somewhat exceeds the average of several preceding years, and is very satisfactory in its general character.

The additions to the law library include 400 volumes of British parliamentary papers received through our system of exchanges.

The Washington memorials, for the purchase of which a special appropriation was made in 1871, have, in accordance with the directions of the law, been placed in the library and conveniently arranged under glass. A descriptive list of the articles, of which the three manuscripts are of peculiar value, is appended to this report.

The widening of a part of the shelves of the library, so as to admit of placing the books in double rows, provided room for about 10,000 volumes, and was made at a cost much less than the sum appropriated for the purpose. Most of this space has already been occupied.

A catalogue of the manuscripts then in the library was published in the catalogue of 1856. A catalogue of those since added will be found appended to this report.

Two series, as far as published, of the British Record Commission's publications, the calendars of state papers and the chronicles of Great Britain, amounting in all to 186 volumes, are among the additions of the past year. Though published by the government of Great Britain they are not distributed gratuitously, but are sold at moderate prices. They are of great value in historical investigations, as they contain many documents not elsewhere published.

The Honorable Robert S. Hale, one of the trustees of the library, who was the counsel of the United States government before the mixed commission for the adjudication of claims under the treaty of Washington of May 8, 1871, has presented the library a complete collection of the printed papers of the commission, consisting of testimony, memorials and other documents, in seventy-five bound octavo volumes. But twenty-two copies of these papers were printed, of which only ten are now in this country.

Lord Tenterden, of the British Foreign Office, has presented to the library, through the Chancellor of the University, a complete collection of the papers printed by the government of Great Britain, in seven folio volumes, consisting of the cases, counter-cases, arguments, etc., in the matters submitted to the Tribunals of Arbitration at Geneva and Berlin, under the same treaty.

A similar collection of the papers printed by the government of the United States, has been presented by the State Department at Washington.

The trustees are gratified at the progress of the library during the past year, and they earnestly ask that liberal provision may continue to be made for its enlargement.

The attention of the last legislature was called to the necessity of an appropriation to bring up arrearages in several departments, especially the law, and the committee of ways and means in the assembly reported in favor of allowing five thousand dollars for the purpose, but their recommendation was not adopted.

The trustees earnestly present this matter to the legislature, and also express the hope that in view of the increased cost of books and the wants of the library, the annual appropriation for its enlargement be increased from four to six thousand dollars.

All which is respectfully submitted.

By order of the trustees,

JOHN V. L. PRUYN,
Chancellor of the University.

S. B. WOOLWORTH,
Secretary.

DESCRIPTIVE NOTES.

INTRODUCTORY.

The memorials referred to in the preceding list were authorized to be purchased by the Legislature by the act called the "Supply Bill," passed April 26, 1871, in the following terms: "To Mrs. Lewis W. Washington of Halldown, West Virginia, the sum of twenty thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary, for the purchase of certain relics of General Washington, offered by her to the state, to be paid only upon the certificate of Martin Grover, and the Chancellor of the University and of J. Carson Brevoort, that said relics, are, in their opinion, genuine, and that it is desirable, in their judgment that they should be placed in the museum of the State Library."

The majority of the commission having after examination decided that the relics were genuine and that the possession of them was desirable by the state, the sum named in the act, after some delays occasioned by legal questions, was paid, and the relics were deposited in the Library as the property of the state in the latter part of the year 1873.

It seems proper to accompany the list of the memorials with a brief statement of their history. They were offered to the State by Mrs. Ella Bassett Washington, whose husband since deceased had given her authority to dispose of them. Col. Lewis W. Washington, her husband, was the sole surviving son of George Custis Washington, who was the son of William Augustine Washington, the oldest of the five nephews of Washington, and named in his will as one of the executors. Some of these memorials came into the possession of George Custis Washington from him; and others at a later period through a bequest in the will of Judge Bushrod Washington; and Geo. Custis Washington gave them to Lewis W. Washington or Lewis W.'s son by his will in 1854. They had been exposed in a costly glass cabinet from that time for a period of fifteen years at his mansion of Belle Air, Halldown, near Harper's Ferry, Virginia. After the raid of John Brown in 1859, and during the civil war they were deposited and on exhibition in the Patent Office at Washington; from which time possession of them was resumed by Col. Washington.

In short, all these memorials have been uninterruptedly in the possession of members of the Washington family, as above stated, except as to three or four of them which were for a time lost or abstracted in the manner which will be mentioned in the following notes.

The evidence of their genuineness and identity seems unimpeachable. In the detailed notice of each article in the list, more full mention will be made of the facts connected with their history, and of the evidences of their genuineness. But it may be said here that the Library possesses documents which would be too copious to introduce at this time, which in many ways are corroborative of the history of these memorials: they are copies of the wills of the several members of the Washington family connected with them; affidavits or letters from persons who had been acquainted with one or more of the relics from as early a period as 1796; and other papers which establish the close relations to the memorials which the parties held who offered them to the state. These documents will be preserved in the Library for reference.

DESCRIPTIVE NOTES.

No. I.

FIRST DRAFT OF THE FAREWELL ADDRESS.

This manuscript contains that draft of the Farewell Address which, after having been first sent to Mr. Madison in 1792, had been re-composed and re-written by Washington in the spring of 1796, four years afterwards. It was sent by him to Alexander Hamilton in May of that year, with the request that he would "re-dress" it, and that it should be sent back to him without allowing the manuscript itself to be altered. Four months after, on Sept. 19, 1796, the actual Farewell Address, expanded to twice the length of this first draft, was published by Washington in Philadelphia.

This is the "missing draft," of which our historians have so frequently spoken. Sparks, in his Writings of Washington, says: "What were the contents of the draft here alluded to" (by Washington in his letter to Hamilton), "there are now no means of ascertaining." (Vol. xii, p. 390.) Search was made for it by J. C. Hamilton and H. Binney among the Washington papers, bought by Congress of Judge Washington, but it could not be found. Parts of it have been previously published from partial copies, but not with the idea that it was any thing more than what Sparks describes it to be, "rough notes," or "heads of topics." These sheets, however, about nineteen pages of ordinary letter-sheet size, constitute a carefully completed document, its not infrequent erasures and alterations being such as to leave no doubt of this care, and that it was intended to serve as a perfectly reliable guide to Hamilton of what Washington was willing to have given to the country, with moderate changes, as his Farewell Address. In 1859, Mr. Binney, in his work, An Inquiry into the formation of Washington's Farewell

Address, embodies the parts of these copies into one document, and they prove to be, in the main, the same as the "missing draft," or "preserved paper."

The evidence of the genuineness of this manuscript is, that it is in the well-known and unmistakable handwriting of Washington, and is formally signed by him; the resemblance is exact and complete throughout. It comes into the possession of the State from Lewis W. Washington, to whom it was bequeathed by his father, George Custis Washington, to whom it descended by the will of Judge Bushrod Washington, who possessed all Washington's books and papers. Being filed with Washington's private papers, it was not, for that reason, included with those sold to Congress. The whole document constitutes a most important link in the history of the formation of the Farewell Address as it was finally published, and as contained in the copy, printed in 1850 by Mr. James Lenox from the original Manuscript, with all the variations.

An exact copy of this first draft has been made, and its correctness attested to, for use in the library.

No. II.

OPINIONS OF THE SURVIVING GENERALS OF THE REVOLUTION.

This paper was prepared by Washington in the winter of 1791-92, after the defeat of Gen. Arthur St. Clair by the Indians in the autumn of 1791, near the Miami in Ohio, and in anticipation of the necessity of the appointment of some one to succeed him in the command of the army. It was intended to serve him as a memorandum of the various characters and claims to the office, of the generals of the revolution then living, both for his personal use, and for the deliberations in council with his cabinet. The existence of this manuscript has not generally been known, and from motives of delicacy has never been published. As the result of these deliberations, Gen. Anthony Wayne was appointed St. Clair's successor in April 1792, and Otto H. Williams and Rufus Putnam, First, and John Brooks and James Wilkinson, Second, Brigadier Generals. Twenty-three officers are mentioned in the series, and Washington gives his opinion of the qualifications of sixteen of them for the office in question, viz.: of Gens. Lincoln, Steuben, Moultrie, McIntosh, Wayne, Weeden, Hand, Scott, Huntington, Wilkinson, Gist, Irvine, Morgan, Putnam, Pinckney and Gov. H. Lee.

This manuscript is as plainly in the handwriting of Washington as the First Draft, and passed through the hands of the same members of the family before becoming the property of the state.

Of this Ms. also a correct and attested copy has been made for use in the library.

No. III.

TABULATED STATEMENT OF HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES IN 1789.

This Ms. is a view on one sheet, forty-two inches long by eight inches wide, in the handwriting of Washington, of his household expenses in New York for three months from May 24th to Aug. 24th, 1789, at the commencement of his first term of office as President. Washington, in his first inaugural address, expressed his unwillingness to receive any money from the public treasury beyond his actual expenses. And in pursuance of this principle had had his accounts carefully kept by his steward, and here reduces them in a table, in a manner to show how much had been spent for each item, bread, meat, ice creams, liquors, etc., during this period, so as to be able to calculate his probable expenses for a year. The cost of wages and board for his secretary, assistant secretary and three aids, eleven white servants, seven black servants, and their liveries, with the keeping of sixteen horses, is likewise included. Fac similes have been published of his accounts with the government during the revolutionary war; but nothing like the minute details of his private expenses for a later period similar to that which is contained in this manuscript.

No. IV.

DRESS SWORD OF WASHINGTON.

This is one of five swords left by Washington in his will to his five nephews then living. The first named, who was the eldest, Wm. Augustine Washington, had the first choice, and selected this sword on account of its traditional history. He bequeathed it to his son, who in turn bequeathed it to Col. L. W. Washington, from whom the state received it. In 1858, this and the fourth sword were in his possession; the second was in possession of Lt. Henry Davis, U. S. N.; the third was in the hands of Wm. T. Washington, and the fifth in the National Institute at Washington.

There is no known record of the fact, but it was generally reported in the family, that this sword was brought over from Europe about the year 1780 to Washington, with this verbal message from Frederick II (the Great), King of Prussia, "From the oldest general of the world to the greatest." A "picture" with this sentence inscribed under it is mentioned in a newspaper of that year.* There was another impression that it was brought over or delivered to him by Col. David Humphreys of Connecticut, who had been upon his staff. It was frequently worn by Washington on State occasions, as in 1791 when he received the Senate at his private residence in Philadelphia. It is represented also in some of the portraits of Washington, for example the portrait painted by Vanderlyn for the

* New Jersey Journal, Aug. 2, 1780. See Moore's Diary of the Revolution.

U. S. House of Representatives in 1834. At the time when a sword of Washington and a staff of Franklin were presented in the House of Representatives in 1843, this sword "from Frederick" was referred to as being still in the possession of one of the Washington family. The house of Col. Washington was entered during the John Brown Raid in 1859 by his followers, and the sword was used by him while commanding at Harper's Ferry, and afterward returned to its owner. The sword is a straight pointed blade, with hilt and chain of polished steel, dotted with steel beads. The present case of green Turkey morocco is not the original; that was of white shagreen or shark skin. It was cleaned and covered in 1854 in Baltimore by S. Jackson, cutler.

No. V.

PISTOL FROM LAFAYETTE.

This is one of a pair of heavy horseman's pistols, which had been used by Gen. Lafayette during the revolutionary war, and which were presented by him to Gen. Washington at its close as a personal souvenir. The pair was bequeathed by Judge B. Washington to his cousin George C. Washington. One of them having been lost, the single pistol was left by G. C. Washington, in his will, to his son L. W. Washington. It was taken from his house by a son of John Brown during the raid of 1859, and was sent by him in 1860 to Thaddeus Hyatt, who restored it to its owner, Oct. 15, 1860. The other pistol, previous to 1841, was stolen in Philadelphia from the hotel where the two were in the possession of Silas E. Burrows, to whom they had been loaned, for the purpose of carrying them to New York for a charitable exhibition.

No. VI.

WATCH CHAIN AND SEALS.

The watch chain was for a fob pocket, and is a double chain made of alternate long and short links of gold. One of the seals is of gold and the other of silver. All three of these articles have the letters G. W. engraved upon them in antique style in script, two of them in imitation of his own manner of writing his initials. The silver one was worn by Washington during his daring exposure of his person in the battle of Braddock's field in 1755, and was lost by him there at the time. Eighty-seven years after, in 1842, it was found by Daniel Boone Logan, son of Col. James Logan, along with several flattened bullets in the same field, and through Col. R. W. Johnson, senator from Arkansas, to whom Mr. Logan had given it, was restored to Col. L. W. Washington in 1856. The gold seal was also once lost by G. C. Washington while hunting in Montgomery county, Maryland, in 1827, and was found by Mr. Clagett, of Rockville, while ploughing in 1844, who returned it to him.

No. VII.

POCKET PROTRACTING INSTRUMENTS.

A case of mathematical instruments covered with shagreen, with silver hinge and hasp, the same in form as is still sold for students.

No. VIII.

BOX OF SURVEYING INSTRUMENTS.

This oaken box, fourteen and a half inches long by seven and a half inches wide and four inches deep, contained, besides a compass, various instruments, all of brass, such as a scale of parts, parallel ruler, spirit-level, etc. Washington commenced his studies in surveying when he was fourteen years of age, as appears from a ms. volume of his "Book of Surveys, 1746," now at the Cornell University. Lord Fairfax appointed him surveyor for his own lands, with a compensation of three dollars and fifty cents a day, when he had just entered his sixteenth year, and he became public surveyor of the province, after two years' service with Lord Fairfax, for the three following years.

No. IX.

SURVEYOR'S COMPASS.

This compass, which was contained in the box above mentioned, has engraved on its face "D. Rittenhouse, Philadelphia." Its maker, David Rittenhouse, was the distinguished astronomer, who became President of the American Philosophical Society, and was a Commissioner to define the boundary between Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York in 1769-70. He was born in the same year as Washington, and was engaged in the manufacture of mathematical instruments and clocks at as early a period as the former commenced surveying. It is impossible to say whether this compass was manufactured by him before he opened an establishment in Philadelphia in 1770, as there is no date upon it. His first shop was opened in Norriton, near that city, in 1751.

No. X.

SURVEYOR'S TRIPOD.

This is made of oak, mounted with brass. The three legs are each in two sections, with brass screws to unite them, for the purpose of easy transportation on horseback. In the original inventory it was described as a "Jacob's staff."

Nos. XI, XII, XIII.

Measuring iron chains, the large sized one, 33 feet 2 inches long; the small size, 30 feet long. This is the first used by him, and probably some of the links have rusted off. Also, six wooden marking-pins, of ash.

No. XIV.

COSTUMES OF THE BRITISH ARMY.

These are contained in a quarto volume, with the engraved title: "A Representation of the Cloathing of His Majesty's Houshold, and of all the Forces upon the Establishments of Great Britain and Ireland. 1742." It has also this ornamental manuscript title: "Description of the Cloathing of His Majesty's bands of Gentlemen Pensioners, Yeomen of the Guards, and Regiments of Foot Guards, Foot Marines and Invalids. On the Establishment of Great Britain and Ireland. Anno MDCCXLII."

There are 101 engraved and colored prints of the costumes, and each print is accompanied with a page in manuscript containing the names of the series of commanding officers of each regiment. The following paper is also pasted into the volume: "This work was executed by order of his late Royal Highness William, Duke of Cumberland, and a few sets given to the most illustrious characters in Europe, after which the plates were destroyed.—His Royal Highness having been pleased to give this sett to the late John Pine, who engraved it, his son Robert Edge Pine has now the honor of presenting it to his Excellency General Washington. Philadelphia, 17 Sep. 1787." Pine painted a portrait of Washington in 1785, now in the possession of J. C. Brevoort of Brooklyn, and died in 1788. The volume was given by Washington to Judge Bushrod Washington, and by him to Geo. C. Washington.
